2025 is a key waypoint as European industries look ahead to 2030 and beyond to the global goal of net zero by 2050. How much progress has been made? What's left to be done?

This 2-day event will provide an overview of technical, economic and innovative solutions to help industrial players achieve carbon neutrality.

A high-impact programme!

Presentations and discussions to help participants:

- Consider all decarbonisation levers and define an appropriate roadmap
- Discover impactful European projects
- Learn about energy efficiency solutions and the financing available to implement them
- Integrate eco-design and circularity in their industry
- Take action on their energy mix
- Create connections with local communities
- Explore new economic models that are emerging in response to the challenges of the energy transition
